About the Regional Land Information Database (RLID)

The Regional Land Information Database \(RLID\) is the central resource for land-based information in Lane County, Oregon. RLID is both a repository of integrated land records and a web system for finding and reporting information about properties within the county. RLID combines data from government business systems across the region with mapping information from shared Geographic Information Systems (GIS) to provide a unique and valuable resource for the governments, businesses, and citizens of Lane County and beyond.

RLID is jointly developed by the cities of Eugene and Springfield, Lane County, the Eugene Water & Electric Board (EWEB), LCOG and its member agencies. It is an achievement of collaboration and data sharing among local government agencies in Lane County spanning more than 40 years. The partnership is unique with the State of Oregon and noteworthy on a broader national scale for its long history of successes in the regional development and sharing of geographic information that is fundamental to the workings of government.

Adding to RLID's success since 2000 has been a steadily growing subscriber community of non-partner agencies, businesses, and individuals. The resulting public-private partnership offers a win-win-win value proposition. For the government partners RLID reduces costly duplication of data and systems costs, provides a convenient one-stop shop for shared data access, and offers a model of effective local agency collaboration. For business users RLID offers operational efficiency, unique information services, and value-added support. For citizens of Lane County RLID demonstrates their representative governments coming together in meaningful ways to improve both the quality of the information agencies collect and maintain as well as the effectiveness with which they apply it in their daily operations.

For additional information about the RLID program or to set up a trial login, please contact Nick Seigal at nseigal@lcog.org.

Elder Abuse Awareness Month Interview on KLCC Radio

KLCC (89.7 FM) aired an interview on their Oregon On the Record program, hosted by Michael Dunne, in June about Elder Abuse Awareness Month. Adult Protective Services staff Dwight Stauffer and Geoff Clark shared about what elder abuse is and what people can do to prevent it. We are so grateful to the station for giving us the opportunity to share about this important issue with our community.

Listen to the 20-minute interview at <https://www.klcc.org/podcast/oregon-on-the-record/2024-06-25/protecting-our-elders-abuse-of-seniors-on-the-rise>

Disability Services Advisory Council Members Wanted

We are seeking members for our Disability Services Advisory Council (DSAC)! Applications will be accepted between July 1 and July 31, 2024.

LCOG Senior & Disability Services (S&DS) is the local agency responsible for planning and providing most publicly funded services for seniors and adults with physical disabilities. DSAC advises the LCOG Board of Directors and agency staff on services provided by S&DS and all other important matters affecting the administration of S&DS, except for matters of personnel administration, staff pay and benefits. It meets six times per year, on the third Friday of the months of January, March, May, July, September, and November.

The Disability Services Advisory Council, in addition to advising services, advocates for the general welfare of people with physical disabilities in Lane County. The council is composed of 9 to 15 members, and over half the members must be persons with disabilities.

To apply, complete this web form: Disability Services Advisory Council Application

Membership: New member recruitment for the council occurs annually, typically in late summer. People living with or having lived experiences of physical disabilities, professionals that work with people with physical disabilities, or advocates for disability related issues are invited to apply.

The councils serve all of Lane County and are interested in securing representatives from all of Lane County, especially individuals from rural communities and members of underrepresented and marginalized communities.
